

15. American Sovereignty and the United Nations – Rep. Rose Christensen, D24

WHEREAS: Certain efforts within the United Nations represent threats to national sovereignty; and

WHEREAS: These efforts include the pursuance of an expanded international judiciary, including the International Criminal Court, and the International Court of Justice, legal jurisdictions that do not include the safeguards required by the United States Constitution; and

WHEREAS: The United States' sovereignty is increasingly threatened by a never-ending supply of United Nation's treaties and conventions; and

WHEREAS: Our federal government has limited its rights of sovereignty over many of the United States' revered heritage sites which have become world heritage sites under the United Nations; and

WHEREAS: The United Nations is striving to control all of the United States' land, to tax many areas of commerce, to control all natural resources, to influence environmental and election laws, to outlaw guns, to educate and control our children, and to enact population control; and

WHEREAS: United States armed forces are fighting wars or standing guard in many nations, all under the command and control of the United Nations; and

WHEREAS: The Constitution of the United States specifies that no law or treaty can properly be made unless it is "in the pursuance thereof" and "under the authority of the Constitution," and which has been supported by five U.S. Supreme Court rulings that treaties cannot authorize what the Constitution forbids; now

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That the North Dakota Republican Party believes that American soldiers and citizens should be subject only to domestic legal entities, and urges all public officials to ensure United States' sovereignty over people, property, and policy during any interaction with the United Nations; and

THEREFORE, BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: The North Dakota Republican Party respectfully, but firmly requests all members of the North Dakota Congressional Delegation, and all candidates seeking public office to:

- Diligently work to limit and control the United States' financial support for the United Nations; and

- Ensure that United States military service members shall serve only under the authority of the United States civil, military command and law; and

THEREFORE, BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: The North Dakota Republican Party reaffirms our loyalty to the U. S. Constitution, and to our national independence, and hereby relays to our elected representatives in Washington, D.C., our directive to withdraw America's moral, political, legal, and economic participation from the United Nations.
